SHOULD REPAIR TREE DAMAGES WITHOUT DELAY

Auburn—Hard winter and spring storms have left behind a large crop of broken and splintered branches this year. In Auburn this week, API Extension Forester Ike Martin urged tree owners to repair the damage themselves while the weather is mild. Once decay or infection sets in, he explained, help of a professional arborist is usually required or the tree may be needlessly lost.

Broken or split branches should be removed flush with the trunk or the nearest large limb, Martin said. Make a clean cut and leave no stub that will prevent callus from growing over the wound. The shape of a bark wound has a marked effect upon how fast it will heal, he explained. In general, wounds should be streamlined to a vertical almond shape with no jagged edges.

To avoid tearing the bark in removing a heavy limb, Martin suggested making two preliminary cuts before removing the limb.

RECORDS KEPT IN MANY U. S. HERD PROGRAMS
AUBURN—About 10 per cent of U. S. dairy cows are enrolled in one of the three official record-keeping plans of the National Cooperative Dairy Herd Improvement Program.

This figure was taken from a recent report by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Division of Dairy Cattle, through 1957 by states under the standard Dairy Herd Improvement Association plan.

The 1958 census season at Howard College ended, giving the Bulldogs a season record of 22 wins against two losses.

The Bulldogs Raquet Squad closed the season with a flawless 18 game winning streak.

Among Alabama dairymen, API Extension Assistant Dairyman R. Sam Jones, Jr., said the percent of cows on record is lower than the national average.

Of a total 344 thousand cows in the state, only five and a half per cent are enrolled under one of the three DHIA plans. Included in the standard DHIA plan are 292 herds consisting of 14,077 cows.

The new WADAM plan attracted sign-ups among owners of 3-312 cows in 120 herds in the state during its first year of operation.

BE READY FOR SPRING PESTS AND DISEASES

AUBURN—Would you be willing to spend one dollar if you knew you could get four in return?

Farmer who carry out a good program of insect and disease control on truck crops usually do just that. Practical every truck crop grown in Alabama is subject to attack by one or more pests, and a good control program is the only way a grower can expect to harvest a crop that will give him top net returns.

API Extension Horticulturist John Bigby explained that this doesn't mean the grower can use just any material to control garden pests. Pest control materials, like any other farm tool or practice, must be properly used to obtain best results.

"The farmer must determine what insects or diseases are most likely to attack his crops," Bigby said. "He must find out what chemicals will give the best control. It's also important to know just when pests are most likely to attack the crops."

Some pests, such as wire worms and nematodes, live in the soil and attack the roots of plants. Control of these insects requires chemical applications to the soil. Pests that attack plant leaves and fruit are best controlled by spraying.

Some important points in planning a spray or dust program are:

(1) Use the right material. If you are not sure of this, check with your county agent. Be sure to read the label and use materials as directed.

(2) Apply materials at the right time. In most cases, sprays or dusts must be applied before the insects or disease appears.

(3) Repeat applications regularly to protect new growth on plants.

(4) Do a good job of covering all parts of the plants.

President and Mrs. Hubert Searcy will entertain the members of the graduating class and their families at a reception in their home from 5:30 to 6:30 Sunday afternoon.

The commencement address will be delivered in the college chapel at 10:30 a.m. Monday by Dr. Henry King Stanford, president of Birmingham-Southern College.

Elba High Orchestra

The Elba High orchestra, under direction of Robert Hall, is seen here in a recent program at Elba High School auditorium. Mrs. Morrow, chairman, was this year's recipient of pin and certificate for "outstanding achievement in leadership and musical ability."

Information received here from Merrill C. Lofton, field manager of the United States Department of Commerce, Atlanta, pointed out that each year the Federal Government buys millions of dollars worth of goods and services in the State, ranging from foods to heavy durable goods, and that there is no reason why firms in this area cannot participate in the purchasing program if they manufacture or otherwise produce goods and services that the government can use.

The U. S. Department of Commerce each year issues a listing of goods and services for which the government is in the market for prime contractors, and also in the same publication lists the goods and services just bought for sub-contracting purposes, which is available through this office on a subscription basis," Mr. Lofton said.

"We have just arranged for this listing to be sent air mail to those desiring quicker service. I suggest that those business firms interested in receiving these lists contact the Atlanta Field Office of the U. S. Department of Commerce, 604 Volunteer Building, Atlanta, for further information."

BUSINESS FIRMS ARE INVITED TO SELL TO U. S.

Business firms of Coffee County were urged by the Atlanta field office of the United States Department of Commerce, Atlanta, pointed out that each year the Federal Government buys millions of dollars worth of goods and services in the State, ranging from foods to heavy durable goods, and that there is no reason why firms in this area cannot participate in the purchasing program if they manufacture or otherwise produce goods and services that the government can use.

SURVEY OF PEA RIVER URGED BY JOHN SPARKMAN

Washington.—Senator John Sparkman being the first of a series of appearances in behalf of funds for three vital Alabama Waterway projects before sub-contracting purposes, which is available through this office on a subscription basis," Mr. Lofton said.

"We have just arranged for this listing to be sent air mail to those desiring quicker service. I suggest that those business firms interested in receiving these lists contact the Atlanta Field Office of the U. S. Department of Commerce, 604 Volunteer Building, Atlanta, for further information."

LOCAL BUSINESS

By C. S. TALBERT
Chairman, Dept. of Journalism University of Mississippi
The typical small city retailer who tries to compete with newspaper advertising soon begins to realize a sales increase. The results are usually enough to convince him that newspaper advertising is a good investment.

However, immediate results do not always show how thoroughly and inexpensively the newspaper carries and advertises his message to a community. Readability research conducted by universities and private agencies may give a better picture of the total value of newspaper advertising.

These carefully conducted studies show that more than 90 per cent of all readers use at least one newspaper page. Also, the studies show that each copy of a community paper is read by approximately four people.

This means that for each thousand papers circulated, 4,000 people read something in each issue of the paper. Sixty per cent, or 2,400 for each 1,000 circulation, could be expected to see a one-fourth page retail advertisement.

It also means that most small newspapers deliver the large quarter-page newspaper message at a cost of less than one-half cent per actual reader.

This is less than the cost of addressing an envelope; it is less than one-fourth the cost of a blank postcard; it is less than the cost of operating a duplicating machine; it is two hundred times less expensive than a personal call; it is less than the wages sometimes paid to boys for stuffing circulars in sewers.

It is a cold economic fact which causes major retailers throughout the country to settle on the local newspaper as "the basic advertising medium."

COFFEE FOR EGGS
 During the past 10 years the yearly per person consumption of eggs has dropped from 400 to 300. One probable reason is the popularity of the "coffee break," which often replaces breakfast.

IT'S UP TO YOU
 By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

WHEN the Supreme Court of the United States bases its decision concerning a Constitutional problem on the writings of a man who said in the same book cited by the Court that the Constitution of the United States is "impractical and unsuited to modern conditions" and that its adoption was "clearly a plot against the common people," one may well question the wisdom of its findings.

If one does not believe in an adequate authority on which to base a Constitutional decision, the author in question is Gunar Myrdal, a Socialist and former official of the Swedish government who after a few years' residence in the United States, wrote "An American Dilemma: The Negro Problem and Modern Democracy" which was cited as an authority by the Supreme Court in its segregation decision and which contains the denunciation of the Constitution of the United States which we have created above.

4-H Medal Winners
 During the excitement of the 4-H Club rally, the election and the Fat Calf Show, I failed to give the names of 4-H boys who were awarded medals at the Annual 4-H Club Rally. The boys who received the medals did outstanding projects in 1957. Most Annual medals were awarded to Lamar Donaldson of Fairview and Ben Wilson of New Hope. Andy Wilson, out-going president of the Coffee County 4-H Club Council, received the Leadership medal. Jerry Dyes of Fairview and Jearl Golan of Basin received the achievement medals. Gary Thornton, Billy Wayne Moore and Tommy McKinnon were awarded the field crops medals. Garden awards went to Jimmy Owens of Zion Chapel and Jimmy Mims of Klinton. Four tractor awards were won by Joe Frank Bullock, Randy Donaldson, Bobby Bryant and Don Mynard. The Agricultural program awards were received by Eddie Catter, Larry Anders, Jimmy Smith and Perry Wilson. One hog production award went to William Dean of Mt. Pleasant. Awards made at the rally next year will be based on work done by club members in 1958. We congratulate the boys whose work excelled in 1957.

4-H Camp
 4-H Camp time is barely three weeks away. And judging from interest we noted about 200 boys and girls are planning to attend. The camps will be held at St. Andrews State Park near Panama City.

PESTICIDES CAN BE DANGEROUS FOR LIVESTOCK

AUBURN—Plant pesticides should never be used on livestock, said a recent report issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Occasional cases of livestock poisoning by insecticides and herbicides warranted investigation by USDA scientists. They pointed out that while the same material may be used in preparations designed for use on animals as for plants, the concentration and chemical formulation may be different. Pesticides are safe only when used as intended by the manufacturer and in accordance with his directions.

Never over-treat plants to be used as livestock feed, warned the USDA researchers. Some highly poisonous insecticides can be used safely because dilutions call for quantities too small to cause animal poisoning. Less toxic compounds may be more dangerous where larger quantities are used. Again, it is important to follow the manufacturer's instructions. Never guess at quantities.

Poison symptoms appearing in animals fed pesticide-treated materials may mask even more serious disorders, such as rabies, pseudo-rabies, and encephalitis. Diagnosis is difficult, but animals suffering from pesticide poisoning alone will usually recover completely.

Farmers Cautioned About Leptospirosis

Now that baby pig season is in full swing, farmers should be especially careful about leptospirosis.

API Extension Animal Husbandman G. B. Phillips said this week that the disease causes cattle and swine to lose their unborn offspring. If the infection strikes swine during mid-pregnancy, it can cause the birth of weak pigs.

Phillips advised vaccination against the disease and the quarantine of newly purchased animals. They should be blood-tested before being allowed to run with the home herd.

Fresh Vegetables Need Little Cooking

AUBURN—Fresh green vegetables need not take on a washed-out look when cooked properly. If they are cooked until tender, but still slightly crisp, and cooked under cover, they can look and taste good enough to bring calls for second helpings.

"Boiling is a very familiar and easy way to cook green vegetables," says API Extension Foods and Nutrition Specialist Mary Hulse. "But to keep fresh color and flavor, care needs to be taken to overcook. For boiling, use lightly salted water brought to a boil before adding the vegetable. Cover the pan and allow water to boil again, then reduce heat."

"Some green vegetables, such as shredded cabbage or spinach, may require as little as three minutes to cook. Miss Hulse declared. Green lima beans may take 20 to 30 minutes, snap beans 15 to 20 minutes.

USE SCISSORS

When it's necessary to cut marshmallows, use a pair of scissors. Marshmallows dipped in hot water to prevent the marshmallows from sticking together.

What the new rate on Savings Bonds means to you!

Higher interest—faster—makes Savings Bonds an even better buy!

If you've always bought U.S. Savings Bonds for their rock-ribbed safety, their guaranteed return, the way they make saving easier—now you've got one more reason now!

Every Series E United States Savings Bond you've bought since February 1, 1957, has a new, higher interest—3.34% when held to maturity! It reaches maturity faster, too—in only 8 years and 11 months. And redemption values are higher, too, especially in the earlier years.

About your older Bonds? Easy. Just hold onto them. As you know, the rate of interest a Savings Bond pays increases with each year you own it, until maturity. Therefore, the best idea is to buy the new—and hold the old!

The main thing about E Bonds, of course, is their complete safety. Principal and interest are fully guaranteed. They are loss-proof, fire-proof, theft-proof—because the Treasury will replace them without charge in case of mishap. Your Savings Bonds are as solid as a rock—backed by the full faith and credit of the United States.

Maybe you already know about Savings Bonds—as one of the 40 million Americans who own them today, or as one of the other millions who have used Bonds savings to help pay for new homes, cars, or college education, or to make retirement financially easier. If so, this is familiar territory to you—you know there's no better way to save.

But if you're new to the game, find out about Savings Bonds and what they can do for your future. Ask your banker, or check with your employer about the automatic Payroll Savings Plan that makes saving painless and easy.

Medical Science Increases Life Span

Children born today have a far better chance than you or your parents had of surviving the disease hazards of childhood and living to a ripe old age. The Biblical three score and ten, which years ago was the exception, is now the expected—thanks to medical science.

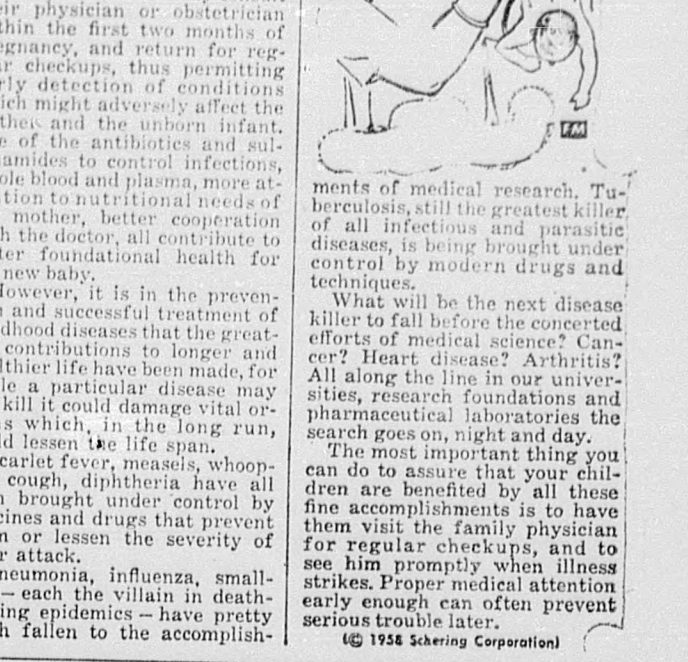

Burial inscriptions of ancient Rome indicate that the average life expectancy of that time was from 20 to 30 years. In 1850, expectation of life at birth was about 40 years. By 1947, according to the National Office of Vital Statistics, this figure had risen to 68. The latest estimate places the life expectancy for this country at about 70 years.

Many factors have contributed to this increase in longevity. The majority of women today consult their physician or obstetrician within the first two months of pregnancy, and return for regular checkups, thus permitting early detection of conditions which might adversely affect the fetus. The use of antibiotics and sulfonamides to control infections, whole blood and plasma, more attention to the diet, better cooperation of the doctor, all contribute to better foundational health for the new baby.

What will be the next disease killer to fall before the concerted efforts of medical science? Cancer? Heart disease? Arthritis? All along the line in our universities, research foundations and pharmaceutical laboratories the search goes on, night and day. The most important thing you can do to assure that your children are benefited by all these advances is to have them visit the family physician for regular checkups, and to see him promptly when illness strikes. Proper medical attention early enough can often prevent serious trouble later.

Pneumonia, influenza, smallpox—each the villain in death-annals—have pretty much fallen to the accomplishments of modern drugs and techniques.

AUBURN—Carrow T. Prout, Jr., Woodland Conservationist for south Alabama for the past six years, will become the Soil Conservation Service's wood-land conservationist for the Northeast. Effective June 1, Prout will transfer from Mobile, Alabama, to Upper Darby, Penn. From that headquarters he will serve as Washington.

Prout was graduated from North Carolina State College in 1934 with the Bachelor of Science degree in Forestry. He has worked with the Soil Conservation Service since Oct. 15, 1935. Since Feb. 1938, he has been with the Service in Alabama. He served with the Service at Redville, North Carolina, and Buford, Georgia, before coming to Alabama. In all capacities, he served with distinction.

During World War II, he took time out to serve 22 months with the United States Marines. Much of this time was overseas service. He returned to the U. S. in May 1947.

Because of his outstanding work in woodland conservation, Prout was presented the Department of Agriculture Superior Service Award in Washington, D. C., in May 1957.

When the Department of Agriculture started searching for a replacement for the present Woodland Conservationist for the Northeast states, who will retire July 1, Prout's work in Alabama attracted attention. After a careful evaluation of his accomplishments and qualifications, he was found the best qualified man for the position at Upper Darby.

Prout has been a member of the Alabama Forestry Council since it was organized and has served as president of that Council. He has also long been associated with the Society of American Foresters. He has a keen appreciation of the importance of Woodland to the farm economy and is highly

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

The Lord, He it is that doth go before thee: He will be with thee; He will not fail thee, neither forsake thee: (Deuteronomy 31, 8.)

The almost unbearable loss of a beloved one; grave illness; death; bereavement; all of these may come to us in our lives, and we will be unable to withstand them by our mortal selves. It is only the supernatural and never-failing strength that we can find in God. Our Father, that will save and sustain us.

Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamor, and evil-speaking, be put away from you, with all malice. And be ye kind to one another, tender-hearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you.—(Ephesians 4, 31, 32.)

Those who would prove their love for Our Lord Jesus Christ, who would make themselves worthy of following in His footsteps and of worshipping Him, can do no less than keep this injunction of Paul the Apostle engraved on their hearts.

"KNOWN BUT TO GOD"

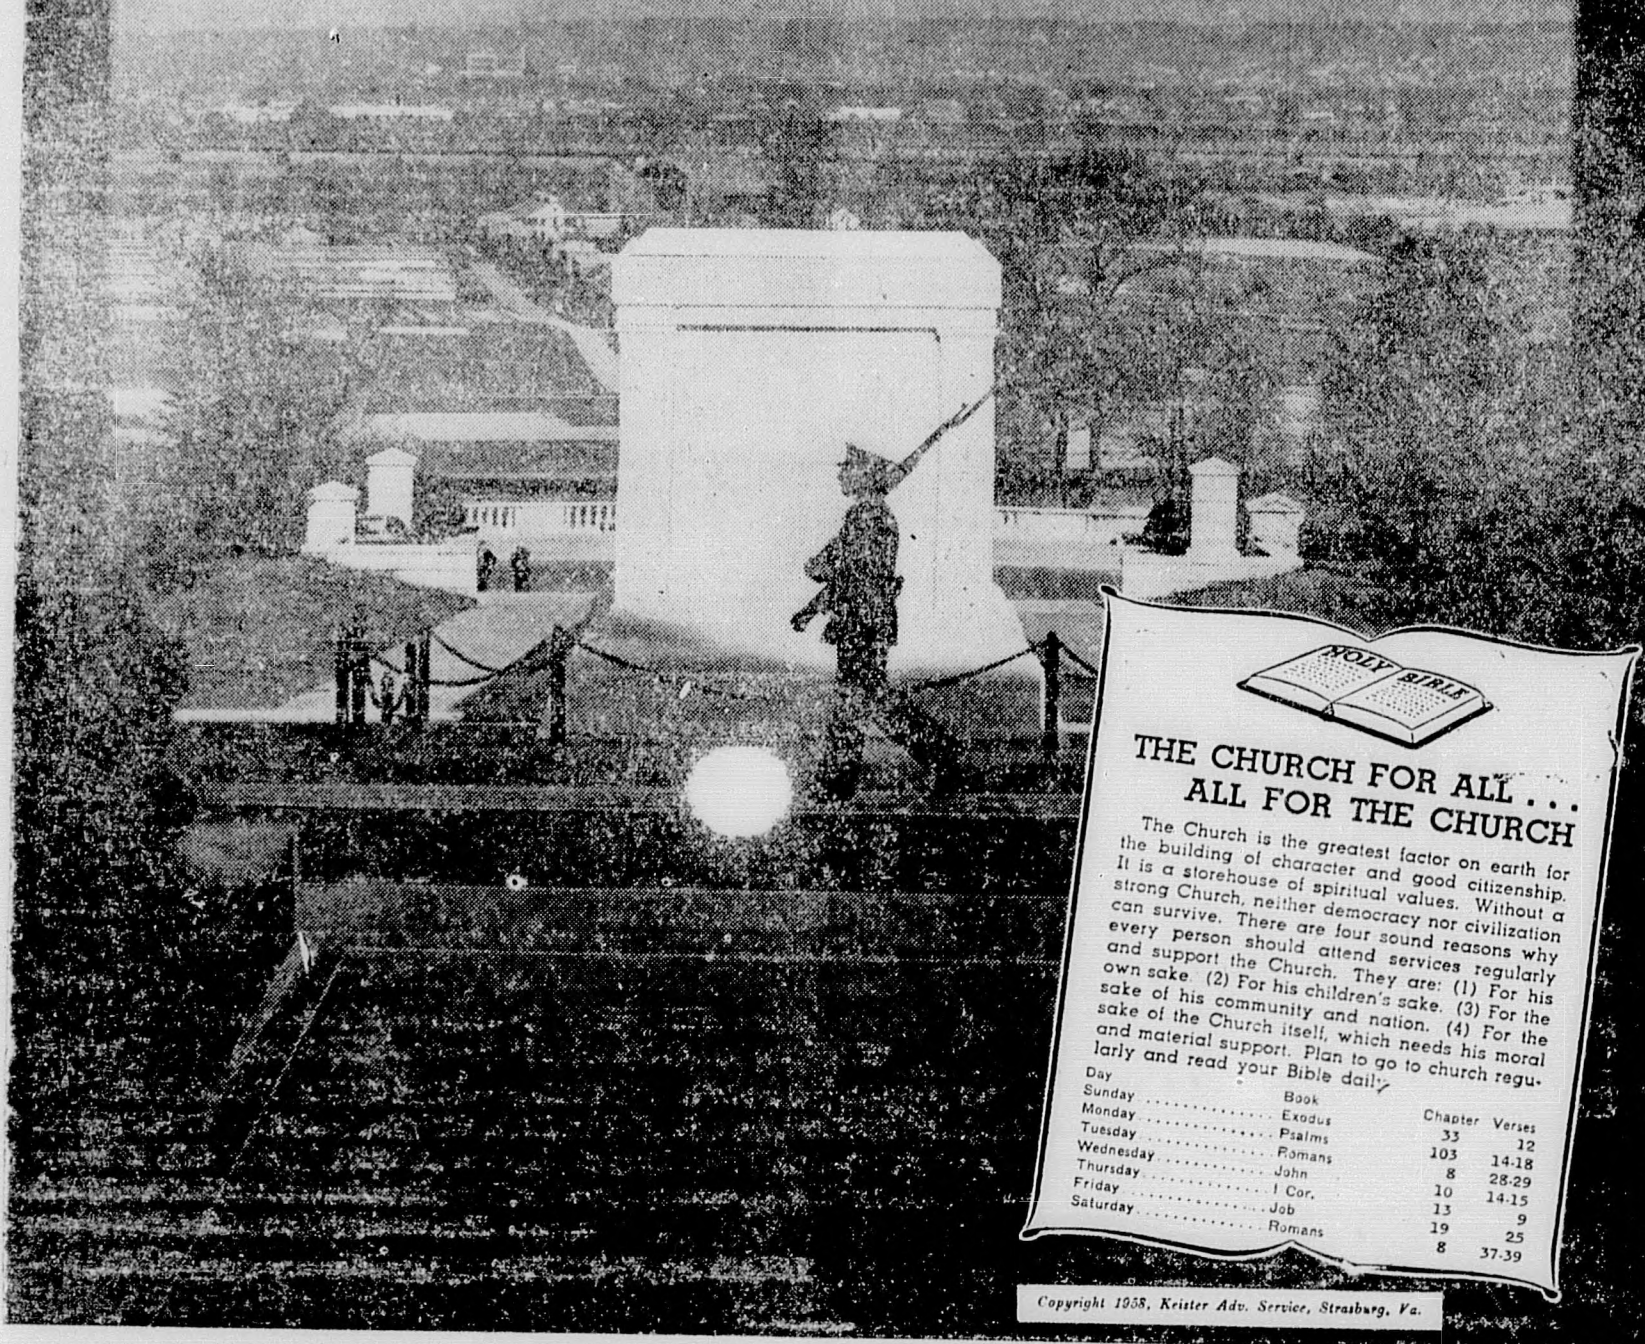

Thousands flock every year from all corners of our nation to stand in hushed reverence before the tomb of the soldier "known but to God."

To all others, he is labeled "Unknown." And in this fact alone, there is tremendous significance. No man knows who this boy really was—but God knows!

God knows you, too, as he knows every man, every woman, every child in the world. That means that no matter who you are, no matter what you do, you can never be really "unknown."

You might ask yourself, "Do I know Him?" If the answer is negative, remember that your first step in finding Him is the step that takes you through the door of His house on earth.

Start going to church!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without it, man cannot survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Foresight Helps Prevent Strained Muscles

When Spring comes, can sprains and strains be far behind? For soon after the robin heralds the new season homeowners are faced with innumerable outdoor chores, such as lawn raking and rolling, cleaning out gutters, trimming trees and maybe digging new drain- age ditches, to name a few, all of which require a far greater effort than most of us have been exerting during the long winter months.

In other words, we are "out of condition." Add to this the great vigor and enthusiasm with which we attack these chores, and you have a potentially dangerous situation. A severe strain or sprain is nothing to take lightly, and a basic understanding of our muscular system and how to treat it can prevent a lot of pain at this time of year.

Simply stated, the skeletal structure is the foundation of our body. This structure is held together by tough tissue known as muscles, which provide the power of our movements. Muscles, like all other parts of the body (and like the parts of a machine), have a point beyond which they will not perform. And just as a piece of machinery, our muscles become "rusty" through inactivity. It is foolish to undertake strenuous tasks and expect your "rusty" muscles to respond with the same enthusiasm you feel. A severe leg, back or shoulder strain can be the result of this same condition.

Before an athlete enters a competition he prepares himself for a long time, conditioning his muscles to perform without strain under the severest test. While the average homeowner need not go through this same training, he should practice a form of "warm up" before undertaking strenuous tasks.

It is recommended that you select easy chores at first, those which require very little stretching, lifting, stooping or lifting. Especially avoid prolonged standing on a ladder, a tireless chore when leg muscles are in condition. Pace yourself even with these lighter tasks by taking a rest period between each one. Once you start your activities, do something every day if possible.

This will help eliminate the natural soreness that develops in the early stages, and will also speed you toward the heavier jobs.

What happens when you suffer a sprain? Our joints are covered by connective tendons. When a sudden or hard pressure is exerted on the joint, say an ankle, the tendon is pulled beyond its stretchability. Such sprains are very painful and incapacitating. A muscle strain, which can be just as painful, results when a sudden or prolonged pressure pulls the muscle beyond its stretchability.

If you do sustain a painful strain or sprain, see your physician right away. Aside from immediate surface therapy he might apply to relieve the pain and swelling, he has several valuable drugs, developed in recent years, which have been used with great success in treating muscle ailments. It often develops, too, that a severe sprain or strain will permanently weaken the joint or muscle if proper medical attention isn't administered.

VIVID FUTURE FOR STATE IN INDUSTRY SEEN

Alabama's past industrial development has been great, her present industrial development is flourishing, but her future industrial development prospects stretch even a vivid imagination.

In the first 7 months of 1957 new manufacturing plants and warehouses built in Alabama, numbered 56 and 47 existing plants expanded their operations.

Alabama is the geographical heart of the South, where exist in plentiful supply the basic things which industry needs—the factors which give an industrial operation a net profit commensurate with its activities. Diversified natural resources of the South equal or excel any other region in the United States. From Nature's store- room, the South offers 70 per cent of the nation's petroleum, 80 per cent of all natural gas, 61 per cent of navigable waterways, 35 per cent of all potential water power east of the Rocky Mountains, 22 per cent of all coal, 75 per cent of all the graphite, 40 per cent of all commercial forest area, 40 per cent of the phosphate rock, 100 per cent of all bauxite, and an ample supply of surface and underground water.

In all the South, Alabama ranks first in production of primary metals with an increase 1955-1956 of 435 per cent as compared with an U. S. increase of 337 per cent for the same period. Alabama ranks first in the South in production of durable goods, with a 1956-1957 increase of 517 per cent, compared with the U. S. increase of 527 per cent. Alabama's increase 1955-1956 in all manufacturing was 502 per cent, in production of non-durable goods the increase was 439 per cent.

The most reliable criterion of the future is the past. Alabama's total business volume (GAP—Gross Ala. Product) increased 439 per cent from 1939 through 1955. It was $1,934 million in 1939 and increased to $10,429 million in 1955.

Recognized experts in industrial development, forecast for the five-year period of 1957-1961, location in Alabama of 168 new industrial and manufacturing plants, at an investment of over $801 millions with an annual payroll that will exceed $132 millions per year.

A $7 million magnesium plant has just been built in central Alabama. It will have a payroll of $1 million yearly. An Alabama - Mississippi Compact has been organized to promote the Tennessee - Tombigbee Waterway, linking the port of Mobile with the inland ports of the Mid-West as far north as Cincinnati, Pittsburg, Chicago, and Minneapolis. Five new hydroelectric dams with an ultimate capacity of 421,700 Kw are approved for construction as soon as possible on the Coosa River.

Alabama's industrial future looks brighter than ever before. Come and grow with us.

BEARDS READIED FOR PAGEANT AT BAY ST. LOUIS

In the Mississippi Gulf Coast city of Bay St. Louis the men are zealously growing beards, the women are digging in the attic for antebellum gowns and 250 of its citizens of all ages are studying their historic roles for the picturesque historical pageant that will feature the six-day Bay St. Louis Centennial Celebration just announced as scheduled for the week of Aug. 4 thru 9, 1958.

This popular year round salt water resort town is already well known as "The Western Gateway of the Gulf Coast." The thousands of travelers daily coming east over U. S. 90 often referred to as the Old Spanish Trail and the Short Cut Across the Deep South, never forget Bay St. Louis, for at this town after days of land bound scenery, they suddenly emerge on the blue and broad beauty of the Gulf of Mexico.

Bay St. Louis welcomes them to the famous Mississippi Gulf Coast 23 mile consecutive stretch of shore drive running parallel to the youngest man made sand beach in the world, the only place where this coast to coast highway runs alongside saltwater in its nearly 3,000 mile trek across 8 states.

Began in 1858

For almost a quarter century, before its corporate beginning in 1858 this Coast city, strategically located on a point of land enclosed by the Bay of St. Louis and the Gulf of Mexico, was a favorite summer resort for the New Orleans Creoles and the upcountry planters as far as Natchez. Its history which goes back to 1699, when the Deep South began on this same shore line, is packed with drama that the programming of its Centennial Pageant was a matter of selection and not exaggeration.

Memories of Lafitte
Off the shore of Bay St. Louis in 1814, was waged the last battle ever fought by the U. S. Navy against a foreign foe within American waters, a battle which incidentally the American gamblers lost. On its beach drive, still stands the historic "Pirate House," built just after 1800 as the Coast headquarters for the pirate Jean Lafitte and his famous Baratarians that helped win the Battle of New Orleans. Along the banks of its beautiful outlying Jordan River, where today thousands visit two of the most beautiful public gardens in the Deep South, Holy Bluff and Darwood, the runners of Al Capone during the Prohibition era used to unload their contraband brought in on many a moonlight night past the Coast Guard cutters in fast speed boats from ships waiting in the Gulf outside the 3 mile limit.

The Pageant depicting the story of Bay St. Louis will be held on a special 300 foot stage every night during the Centennial Week in the stadium of St. Stanislaus Boys School, a Bay St. Louis educational institute older than the incorporated town itself, a sturdy that survived the Civil War and the once almost total destruction of its buildings by fire to celebrate its own Centennial back in 1954.

For six full days the Centennial Organization has scheduled a continuous and constantly changing program of events and entertainment from morning until night, each evening being featured by the hour and a half enactment of the Pageant, followed by a fireworks display and street dancing. Coming, as it does, right at the peak of the boating, bathing, swimming and fishing activities of the Coast, Mississippi Gulf Coast's 1958 summer season.

POLIO CASES IN U. S. ARE DOWN BY 59 PER CENT

Montgomery — Two hundred eighty cases of polio were reported in the United States during the first 17 weeks of 1958. This is about 41 percent of the number recorded during the same period last year when the total was 672.

These figures, compiled by the U. S. Public Health Service, were released by the State Health Department. The Department pointed out that during this same period, which ended April 26, Alabama had reported five cases, also about 41 per cent of the 1956 figure of 12.

All of Alabama's 1958 cases have been paralytic and none of the victims had received Salk vaccine. For the nation as a whole, 150 cases were reported as paralytic. Information about the immunization status of victims outside Alabama was not furnished.

Through the Keyhole

BY MRS. ROBERT CANNON

FISHING AT DEAD LAKES was definitely the rage all last week. Bob and Leslie Johnson spent two sun-baked days there and reported a wonderful time. Tommy Thompson, Lamar Rainer, Freddie Rainer and Roy King were there later in the week and brought home lovely strings of fish despite the high water.

MOVING INTO a new home can be a nerve shattering experience. (We moved on a pickup truck in the middle of a three-day downpour). However, Helen and Curtis Smith moved into their new home on the Brantley Road with all the ease in the world. Capable Curtis had everything organized to perfection and run it all smoothly while Helen managed all the feminine details. Their house is a lovely one, and a reflection of all the thought and dreams that went into it.

HOW VERY NICE to have Colonel Easters and his family home again after a three-year sojourn in England. The Easters are dividing their time between "Miss Day's" house and Mrs. Easters' parents in Enterprise. And how happy grandparents must be to see the children after all three months!

WEDDING PLANS fill the air now as the true month of brides rolls around. Scopped Katherine Dorsey in the grocery store for information on home, the nicest thing is planned one. And what a grand time we had last week, when Sybil and Charles Lowery came up the hill to talk over their house plans.

As the evening progressed, we could visualize the low slung house that will nestle in the pines around the Lowery's lake at Jack. He will certainly be a show stopper.

son Pete's wedding, which was an event of late May. It seems the young Dorsey plans will include completing their education at the College in Troy. We are looking forward to meeting Pete's fiancée.

Also heard rumors of two lovely cousins who will marry this summer. How much excitement that family will have preparing for two weddings.

FAREWELL was said to Kenneth King last week when he left home for Officers Training School in Pensacola, Fla. Kenneth will be a Naval Officer for four years if things go as planned and we expect to see his plane flying overhead at any time. Since several especially attractive young girls in different parts of the state are expecting lots of letters from Kenneth, I wonder when he'll have time to tackle Officers' Training.

SCHOLARSHIPS ARE SOUGHT BY TAYLOR, GRIFFIN
Charles Taylor and Harvey Griffin, Seniors at Elba High School, visited East Central Junior College at Decatur, Miss., last week where they applied for athletic scholarships for next year.
Griffin, along with 75 other boys from several southern states, tried out before the head basketball coach for scholarships in that department. Seven, including Griffin, received scholarships and will report in September for the start of the fall term. Griffin was a standout in the football scholarship and because he showed promise as a grid hopeful, was told to return in August for summer practice sessions.
Both boys were outstanding athletes at Elba High the past year. Taylor played guard on the football team and received the Best Blocker award by the votes of his teammates. Griffin was All-State Honorable Mention as left end for the Tigers and was captain of the basketball team. Both were co-captains of the Tiger Eleven for the past season.
Taylor is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Taylor of Route 2, Griffin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Griffin of Curtis.

The trend for tilts to hire agriculturally - trained men is increasing. Records show that there are about 400 banks employing farm specialists, and the number increases constantly.

WE ARE opposed to federal aid to education, including school buildings, for the building of roads, and for unemployment relief and welfare. We are opposed to any kind of federal grants in aid to the states.
Such grants do not help anyone other than the bureaucrats who administer them. The federal government has no money except what it takes from the states and is spending it close to its source.
Some say federal government must help the states because it monopolizes most of the sources of revenue. This is largely true, but the remedy is not to continue the error but to correct it. Let the federal government reduce its expenditures and return the taxing power to the states. They will then be in position to meet their needs and to do it more satisfactorily and economically than the federal government can ever hope to do it for them.
It is significant that socialists and communists alike clamor for more federal aid for a great variety of purposes. This should reveal to thoughtful people that it is not the federal government that is the cause of their poverty, but that they are right in thinking that it is much easier to let the federal government than to let the states control the economy of the forty-eight states.
Communists and socialists desire centralization in order that they may impose their system upon us. With the American people be so naive and American as to fall into that trap? If so, it will cost them their liberty and their prosperity.

BODY OF DEAD BABY IS FOUND ON ROAD TABLE
Mystery surrounds the finding of the body of a negro baby, about two months old, Tuesday morning on the road just east of New Brockton. The baby apparently had been dead four or five months, but the body had been placed beside the road, on a pavement table, during the previous night. It was found by a child whose parents were working nearby about 9 a.m.
Sheriff H. E. Tillman and Corporal Carlton Larkins investigated and were baffled by the circumstances, particularly by the question why it was moved to that point after being dead so long. It was also found in a plastic bag, and a state toxicologist to make an examination.

W. H. Gannon died Tuesday at home on his farm west of New Brockton which he operated for a long time for C. E. "Pete" Dorsey and later purchased. He was 97 years old.
He is survived by the widow and three sons, Herbert H. Gannon of Enterprise, Edwin W. Gannon now in service with the U. S. Army, Jimmy Gannon of New Brockton, two brothers, Julian Gannon of Enterprise, C. G. Gannon of Cordeiro, Ga., three sisters, Mrs. Mable Sawyer, Mrs. I. A. Funeral services will be held at Bethany Church Thursday at 3 p.m. with the Rev. Bruce, the Rev. W. M. Meek and Dr. B. R. Justice officiating.
Burial will be in the church cemetery.
Mr. Gannon was overseer on the farm for almost 20 years for Mr. Dorsey and in June, 1946, after Mr. Dorsey died, he purchased it. He helped build most of the structures in Elba owned by the Dorsey family. This included the present trailer plant and often spoke about dising high weeds so that work could begin on the site.
Dorsey Stump Puller
Fields on the farm where stumped with a Dorsey stump puller in 1922. The farm consisted of 118 acres when he died.
Mr. and Mrs. Gannon established a record by having a child in the New Brockton schools for 29 years.
Mr. Gannon was a firm believer in crop rotation and parallel tilling. Once when he was in the field with a younger man in farming, he replied, "Stay with it. Don't be moving about."

POPPY SALE TO HELP DISABLED VETERANS SET
The Annual Poppy Sale will be conducted in Elba Friday by the American Legion Auxiliary and to explain the purposes of it. Mrs. James Bowles, a member of the Auxiliary, has written the following:
"Do you know that in the spring of 1919, amidst complete devastation, the poppies bloomed abundantly on the battlefields of France, where so many of our men had fallen in battle, and that a replica of this poppy has become the Memorial Flower of The American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary?"
Do you know that the memorial poppies are made by hand by disabled veterans in hospitals and workrooms in forty states, and that the workers receive pay for each poppy made?
Do you know that the profits from the poppy sales are pledged 100 per cent to rehabilitation of servicemen and welfare relief for service men and women and their families, thus fulfilling the true meaning of the poppy—an emblem of faith (faith, which is being kept with all who died), through service to the living?"
"Take up the torch" in keeping faith with those who gave their all—wear a poppy this Memorial Day."
